Who we are –

The London Consultants' Association (LCA) comprises leading consultants in the capital and beyond who work in the independent sector.

Formed in 1998, the Association supports Consultants in private practice. Its ethos is one of professional integrity, self-regulation and the maintenance of the high professional standards of the GMC, Royal Colleges and government registered organisations

LCA Objectives -

To defend the right of freedom of choice for patients and doctors by:

- a) Maintaining independence of private medical practice and professional decision making
- b) Maintaining the contractual relationship between the patient and the consultant
- c) Maintaining these principles of clinical freedom while working to the highest standards of clinical practice within accepted professional guidelines.

The Association works closely with the Federation of Independent Practitioner Organisations (FIPO) to achieve these objectives.
